"Sut, Mossiem, can I know the powerful! motives that induce you to make such an of far !"
"Yest I will tall you. My daughter, my only daughter, I wish to marry to her cousie, a young man destined for the highest office in the kingdom. My daughter is foolishly enamored of you. I cannot give her to you. It is necessary it therefore that you should leave!"
"Monsieur!" replied the sector, after he had armounted the first prohiptings of his pride, "it that the all, make your mind easy! I will not leave—you will not spend a milliter, and your daughter shall marry her cousis."
"What do you mean!"
"Detain me for dinner to-day, and place me mar her." CALL AND SEE SUMMER DHY GOODS. Greatly Reduced Prices! Dearly as gossible, preparatory to receiving an entire to see a sort manufacture of the trade, will now offer his cuffer stond of formore Goods so low us to afford extraordinary young tan't the very one of whom se had oeen as passionately enamoured in freat of the seens ry of his theatre.

She, stapafied at seeing him at her father's, siammered out a few works, and accepted his arm te go to table, for the actor was determined, let the consequence be what they might, to keep the promise which he had made to the father of his love.

And he did keep it, in truth; and so well, that the young lady, on seeing what kind of a coarse abject person of a clows she had given her heart to, felt as if it would break. In fast, the actor had cuited a thousand inconvensioner, and concluded by insuling the guests so grossly, that most of them were anxious to leave. In a word, was seens became as stirring that as soon as din ner was over, the young lady herself, indignant and outraged, bad the servants called, and the aster, unded outside the door.

But her cousis, her effianced, arrived in the evening. He recognized the celefined eater. The letter related to him how he had just brook he can be soon to a such as the product of the servance. Rev. Mr. Lebel.

Wait, wait, ye winds! till I repeat A parting signal to the fleet; Whose station is at home; Then waft the sea-boy's simple prayer And let it of the whispersed there, While in far distant climes I room.

Parewell to Father! reverend hulk! In spite of metal—spite of bulk, Soon may his cable slip; Yet while the parting tear is maist, The flag of gratitude I'll hoist, In duty to the ship.

Parewell to Mother! "first class" she, Who lannebed me on life's stormy sea, And rigged me fore and sh; May Previdence her timbars space, And keep her hull in good repair, To tow the smaller craft.

Farewell to Sister! lovely yacht!
But whether she'll be "maned" or not,
I cannot now foresee;
May some good ship a "tender" prove,
Well found in stores of truth and love,
And take her under lee.

Farswell to George? the jolly boat! And all the little craft affoat In home's delughful bay; When they arrive at sailing age. May wisdom give the west or goaga And guide them on their way.

Farewell to all! on life's rude main Perhaps we ne'er shall meet again, Through stress of stormy weather. But summoned by the board above, We'll harbor in the port of love; And all be moored together.
